Register now for our thematic web-talks

Dear friends, dear collectors,

This year, we are offering you a new program: our favorite fair, the BRAFA in Brussels, is unfortunately cancelled but we want to preserve the conviviality, warmth and joy of discussing the artworks with you. So even if we can't go to Belgium, we will present you our pieces and we will do our best to answer your questions as if we were there!

Here is the catalog presenting our selection of the artworks that we exhibit. One or more pieces raise your interest, others intrigue you? Let's talk about it together! We organize personal meetings at your convenience, in videoconference or by phone, to re-find the sympathy of the exchanges we would have in situ.

In addition, we are offering three Zoom conferences in French starting January 20th in support of these catalogs and each will discuss the state of the market in the area covered:

« L'art du Gandhāra, entre patronage royal et influences gréco-romaines »
Wednesday, January 20th - 6pm (Paris Time)

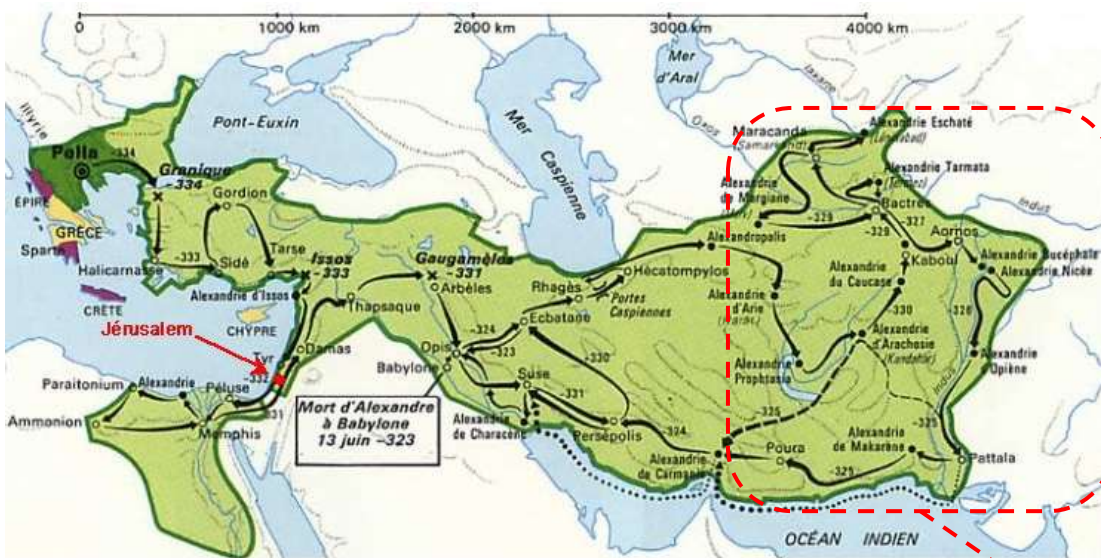

« Splendeurs indiennes : sculptures bouddhiques, hindoues et jaïnes »
Thursday, January 21st - 6pm (Paris Time)

« Sereine Asie du Sud-Est : œuvres bouddhiques et culture du Dong Son »
Wednesday, January 27th - 6pm (Paris Time)

Register now by email info@galeriehioco.com or on +33 1 53 30 09 65 and we will send you the link to log-in! (the number of participants is limited)

Art of Gandhāra

The Gandhāra Valley and its extensive surrounding territories are the cradle of an original art style largely inspired by Helleno-Roman and Parthian art, adapted for Indian religions, almost exclusively Buddhism. In discussing its origins, we must go back to the adventures of Alexander the Great in Central Asia, up to the very gates of India (330-326 B.C.E.) and to the founding of Greek colonies such as Ai-Khanoum on the Oxus (Amu Darya), located on the modern border between Afghanistan and Tajikistan.

The conquests of Alexander the Great between 336 and 323 B.C.E.

The caravan trade helped spread Western influences, even if the genesis of the synthetic art of these regions retains some obscure aspects. It developed over a vast area, from the Muslim republics of Central Asia up to the north of Pakistan. Many regional styles co-exist. Documentation from the 1st century B.C.E. is rare and inconclusive. The apogee of this art, formerly called "Greco-Buddhist" art, an incorrect but image-evoking description, dates from the 2nd or 3rd century of our era. Beautiful works were created one after the other until Islam arrived at a point in time that varies depending on the region concerned.
